The Promise

The lightest trace just fades away
Where sunshine played, the darkness stains
Shadows sketch our faint embrace
On white sheets stretched like canvas frame

We fought the fight and held the line
The world of crazy kept outside
Dust motes drift through exit lights
You float away into the night

You said love will always finds us
The colour and the shades define us
You asked if this was dying
Please don't weep for dreamless sleep

Dissolving hours drain away
And I've nothing left to say
Nothing here to make me stay
Since you left me here without you

In corridors the voices hide
The land just drops away
You drift alone on rolling seas
Drawn by oceans endless tides

Please don't weep for dreamless sleep
You whisper soft and silence creeps
I hold your cold unfolding hand
And a promise that you'll wait for me
